Plaintiff;

The Defendants hereby agree that the Plaintiff shall not be liable in any manner whatsoever, whether legal or otherwise arising from the goods provided by the Defendants under the impugned mark and the Defendants shall indemnify and hold harmless the Plaintiff from any cost or claim of damages arising from it;
- x. The abovementioned undertakings have been tendered by Sh. Manoj Kumar Sah, Authorized Signatory of all the Defendants and the same shall be binding on the Defendants, their assignees in business, franchisees, licensees, distributors, dealers and agents for all times to come.”

2. The settlement agreement is duly signed by the constituted attorney of the plaintiff as also the authorized signatory of the defendants Mr Manoj Kumar Sah. The constituted attorney of the plaintiff has also filed the plaint on behalf of the plaintiff and his affidavits and necessary authorization are already on record. Authorization letters in favour of Mr Manoj Kumar Sah on behalf of the defendant nos.1, 2 and 3 have been placed on record along with the vakalatnama of the learned counsel for the defendant. Consequently, the suit is decreed in terms of the settlement arrived at between the parties as also the prayer clauses (a) and (b) of the plaint.

3. Learned counsel for the plaintiff submits that since the settlement in the suit was arrived at the initial stage itself, as summons in the suit were issued on 27th October, 2021 and on the next date before this Court, the parties stated that they have settled the matter and sought some time to place on record the terms of settlement, full court fee be returned to the plaintiff in terms of the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court reported as (2021) 3

SCC 560 High Court of Judicature at Madras Vs. M. C. Subramaniam & Ors.

4. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above-noted decision held that though in strict terms when settlement is arrived at between the parties by not adopting a mode prescribed under Section 89 CPC, the party may not be entitled to full court fee, however, Section 89 CPC has to be given a liberal interpretation and thus in cases where settlement is arrived at out of court, the full court fee be refunded. It was held:

“23. We find ourselves in agreement with the approach taken by the High Courts in the decisions stated supra. The purpose of Section 69-A is to reward parties who have chosen to withdraw their litigations in favour of more conciliatory dispute settlement mechanisms, thus saving the time and resources of the Court, by enabling them to claim refund of the court fees deposited by them. Such refund of court fee, though it may not be connected to the substance of the dispute between the parties, is certainly an ancillary economic incentive for pushing them towards exploring alternative methods of dispute settlement. As the Karnataka High Court has rightly observed in Kamalamma, the parties who have agreed to settle their disputes without requiring judicial intervention Under Section 89 CPC are even more deserving of this benefit. This is because by choosing to resolve their claims themselves, they have saved the State of the logistical hassle of arranging for a third-party institution to settle the dispute. Though arbitration and mediation are certainly salutary dispute resolution mechanisms, we also find that the importance of private amicable negotiation between the parties cannot be understated. In our view, there is no justifiable reason why Section 69-A should only incentivise the methods of out-of-court settlement stated in Section 89 CPC and afford step-brotherly treatment to other methods availed of by the parties.

24. Admittedly, there may be situations wherein the parties have after the course of a long-drawn trial, or multiple frivolous litigations, approached the Court seeking refund of court fees in the guise of having settled their disputes. In such cases, the Court may, having regard to the previous conduct of the parties and the principles of equity, refuse to grant relief under the relevant rules pertaining to court fees. However, we do not find the present case as being of such nature.

25. Thus, even though a strict construction of the terms of Section 89 CPC and Section 69-A of the 1955 Act may not encompass such private negotiations and settlements between the parties, we emphasize that the participants in such settlements will be entitled to the same benefits as those who have been referred to explore alternate dispute settlement methods Under Section 89 CPC. Indeed, we find it puzzling that the petitioner should be so vehemently opposed to granting such benefit. Though the Registry/State Government will be losing a one-time court fee in the short term, they will be saved the expense and opportunity cost of managing an endless cycle of litigation in the long term. It is therefore in their own interest to allow the Respondent No. 1's claim."

5. Consequently, the suit is decreed in terms of the settlement noted above. Decree sheet be prepared in terms of the settlement arrived at between the parties.

6. Registry is directed to issue a certificate releasing full court fee to the authorized attorney of the plaintiff.

IA No.13961/2021

1. Application is disposed of as infructuous.
2. Order be uploaded on the website of this Court.
